

Information on

Funding and Scholarships

available in Baden-Württemberg, Germany

 Thank you for your interest in the vast study and research opportunities in Baden-Württemberg, Germany. High-quality education and excellent research possibilities make our state an ideal location to pursue your academic career. Germany is a country firmly believing that academic education is essential for young people everywhere regardless of social background and financial resources. Accordingly, there are a number of organisations in Germany that provide scholarships to gifted students and researchers from abroad.

2. German Academic Exchange Service - Scholarships

The scholarships offered by the German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD) are awarded to younger university graduates (and in exceptions, also to advanced students) from all academic disciplines as well as from the fields of music, art, and performing arts. Funding is also available for young and early-stage researchers, university teachers and groups of students completing study visits under the guidance of a university teacher. This support is largely financed by the Federal Foreign Office from public funds made available to it.

The DAAD policy on awarding scholarships is as follows: the DAAD aims to fund and support foreign students, graduates, doctoral students, and young and early-stage researchers whose previous research and academic achievements place them at least in the top third of their age group and who can additionally be expected in the future to become key players and top performers in their career fields combined with an awareness for the social responsibility which this involves.

Funding is available for stays at state (public) or state-recognised universities and at non-university research institutes in Germany.

As a rule, the minimum age for applications is 18. In most programmes, the award of scholarships is subject to an age limit of 32 years, although, depending on the applicant's country of origin, exceptions are possible where the education system in a country has certain particular features or where similar factors play a role. Further country-specific information is available on the DAAD website: www.daad.de/stipendien

3. The Baden-Württemberg – SCHOLARSHIP

The Landesstiftung Baden-Württemberg gGmbH is awarding the Baden-Württemberg-STIPENDIUM (Baden-Württemberg-Scholarship) for students to the classical universities, the universities of applied sciences, the universities of education, the universities of cooperative education and the music and art academies of the State of Baden-Württemberg, and also to the universities outside Germany which have cooperative arrangements with those institutions. It is intended to promote the international exchange of qualified German and non-German students. Periods of study for highly qualified students at a Baden-Württemberg university or at a university outside Germany are funded.

Scholarship period: 4 to 11 months Scholarship amount: 400 to 1.200 € per month, depending on qualification.

Applications for the scholarships must be submitted to the foreign students' office at your university.

Closing day for submission is March, 31, each year.
